FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Wayne Wallace Receives The Mamiya Award of Excellence

Boston, MA August 4, 2005 - Wayne Wallace, a professional photographer and 2005 graduate from the Hallmark Institute of Photography in Turners Falls, MA graduates in the top 10 percent of his class and receives the Mamiya Award of Excellence for his efforts and achievements during the 10-month intensive photography program.

During the rigorous 10-month photography program Wayne learned all aspects of traditional and digital photography as well as essential business skills that are critical to running a profitable business. Wayne's work was recognized early on in the program and was published in several regional and national advertising campaigns as well as being on display in regional exhibits.

At the conclusion of the 10-month program a panel of three professional photographers judged Wayne's portfolio, which had 22 extra submissions in addition to the required 19 submissions. The panel critiqued, passed, and scored Wayne's portfolio in the top 10 percent of the graduating class of 197 students. Xenophon A. Beake, one of the panelists said during critique "Your ability to handle the human form is amazing".
